

BLENDING ICT INTO LANGUAGE LEARNING AND TEACHING

B.MADHAVI LATHA

Associate Professor, Department of Computer Science & Information Technology, Majmaah University, Al Majmaah,
Riyadh, Saudi Arabia

ABSTRACT

The impact of information and communication technology (ICT) on language learning has been acknowledged globally to such an extent that blending of ICT in language learning has become inevitable in today's teaching learning process. This paper makes a study of the blended language learning and the role of ICT in language learning and teaching environment, advantages and challenges involved in the process with some suggestions.

KEYWORDS: English Language, Teaching and Learning Process, ICT, Technology, Blended Learning