

COMMUNICATION OF COGNITIVE LINGUISTICS TO CULTURAL LINGUISTICS

ZH. ZH. ESENALIEVA¹, SMAGULOVA A. S² & ISMAGULOVA B. KH³

¹Doctor of Philological Science, Professor Kazakhstan, Almaty

²Dean of the Faculty International Relations, Professor, Kazakhstan, Almaty

³Professor, Kazakhstan, Almaty, Central-Asian University, Almaty

ABSTRACT

The biggest achievement of the twentieth century - is the relationship between the different branches of science and the emergence of related subjects. Humanitarian - interdisciplinary synthesis, as a phenomenon that is widely seen in the study of Cultural Studies.

To date, the main issue is to study the relationship of the "language and culture", "human language" as the cognitive approach. Anthropocentric paradigm is the main catalyst in the study of cognitive linguistics. If cognitive linguistics is connected with the mentality and with the knowledge of the person, the linguistic cultural studies focuses more on the relationship of language to culture.

KEYWORDS: Cultural Linguistics, Modern Linguistics