

COMMERCIAL BANKS IN TAMILNADU - AT A GLANCE

G. PURUSHOTHAMAN<sup>1</sup> & K. KRISHNAMURTHY<sup>2</sup>

<sup>1</sup>Research Scholar, Thiruvalluvar University, Serkkadu, Vellore, Tamil Nadu, India

<sup>2</sup>Research Supervisor & Guide, Department of Commerce, Rajeswari Vedachalam Government
Arts College College, Chengalpattu, Tamil Nadu, India

ABSTRACT

Non-performing assets is an integral part of banking activity. Non-performing assets through intensive deposit collection has been regarded as the major task of banking in India today. Acceptance of deposits is the primary function of commercial banks. As such, Non-performing assets is one of the basic innovations in current Indian banking activity. Non-performing assets is essentially resource non-performing assets. It implies tapping of potential savings and putting them into the banking sector for productive uses.

KEYWORDS: Non-Performing Assets, Banking Sector, Intensive Deposit Collection